

Brent Knoll School is a specialist school for children with autism or social communication and interaction difficulties. We offer a broad and balanced curriculum designed to develop pupils' skills, knowledge and understanding to support their communication, independence and ability to self-regulate.

Our vision is that through reciprocal communication we can address barriers to learning to enable our young people to be safe and flourish before moving on to their next stage of development. 'The Brent Knoll Way' has informed their journey making them ready for their next steps to becoming active and responsible citizens.

Our Home School Agreement is designed to set out expectations for working together to help realise our ambition that all of our community can;

'Be the best that they can be'

To achieve our vision the school will;

- Be a safe, nurturing and low arousal environment that promotes wellbeing
- Provide a personalised learning pathway delivered through a stimulating and challenging curriculum
- Develop positive relationships to support the holistic development of all of our pupils
- Communicate effectively on all aspects of school life
- Celebrate diversity and difference recognising and celebrating individual achievement and supporting areas for development

To achieve our vision families will;

- Ensure good attendance and punctuality
- Encourage engagement in learning and upholding school values
- Promote tolerance and celebrate diversity
- Attend meetings and school events
- Read and act upon communications from school and keep school informed of any issues that may affect engagement with learning

To achieve our vision pupils will:

- Value themselves and respect others
- Develop responsibility for their actions
- Be honest with themselves and others
- Understand fairness and tolerance
- Be kind
- Always try to 'be the best that they can be'
