Discover at Home enables children to be rewarded for the creative activities they enjoy and supports them to connect with their local museums, theatres and arts activities they like, online or at home, and explore new ones, until it's possible to visit them again.

Discover at Home is a fantastic way to keep children engaged in the arts and creativity while they are at home. With easy to follow guidance and lots of suggestions for arts, craft and creative activities, Discover at Home is a great option for parents & carers who may not be arts specialists themselves or are looking for something different to keep children engaged and entertained. They can even gain a certificate!

You do not need to have experience in the arts to deliver Discover at Home, and we have created a comprehensive free resource pack to take you through each step. This resource has been designed for parents & carers to use with younger children, aged up to 11, although you can use this with children of any age. We recommend you connect with your local or national arts organisations for inspiration and to help with ideas for creative activities for your children to take part in during this period.

In addition to the resources provided here, we are delighted to be working closely with the ten regional Arts Council Bridge Organisations. Together, they have curated regional offers so that children and their families can continue to connect with the arts and culture in their area. We hope that this will also encourage families to visit and support their local arts organisations when this lockdown period is over. Details of the Arts Council Bridge Organisations can be found below, and we suggest families use their local area as a starting point for any online Discover at Home programme.

The use of these resources and access to the Discover at Home framework is free for the duration of this period. If you would like to apply for the certificate available for completing the level, there is a small cost involved. We suggest making contact with your Arts Council Bridge Organisation in the first instance to explore the options available to you.
